Collect of the Week:

Lord, we beseech thee mercifully to receive the prayers of thy people which call upon thee; and grant that they may both perceive and know what things they ought to do, and also may have grace and power faithfully to fulfil the same; through Jesus Christ thy Son our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with thee, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen

Post Communion Prayer:

Almighty God, who hast taught us through thy Son that love is the fulfilling of the law: grant that we may love thee with our whole heart and our neighbours as ourselves; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

MUSIC NOTES

W.A.Mozart composed his Missa Brevis in B flat in 1777; the first performance was given in Salzburg in December of that year. The movements are laid out succinctly, although Mozart still finds time for writing of an imitative nature at the closing of the Gloria and opening of the Sanctus. Despite the small-scale form, the cheery 'Dona nobis pacem' section is given ample room for development, providing an excellent contrast with the rather intimate nature of the rest of the music.

William Byrd's Laetentur coeli was first published in the Sacrarum Cantionum of 1589, and combines traditional polyphonic techniques with madrigalian energy and verve.

*Laetentur coeli et exsultet terra, Jubilare montes laudem,
quia Dominus noster veniet et pauperum suorum miserebitur.*

*Orietur in diebus tuis justitia,
et abundantia pacis,
et pauperum suo*

Rejoice, O heavens, and be joyful, O earth.
Give praise, O hills, for our Lord shall come and show mercy to his humble people.

There shall rise up in those days
justice and abundance of peace.

Orlando Gibbons (1583 - 1625) was regarded as one of the greatest English composers of the early 17th century. He enjoyed an illustrious career at the court of King James I as a 'Gentleman of the Chapel Royal' and was appointed organist of Westminster Abbey two years before his untimely death in 1625. The four-part anthem O Lord, increase my faith concisely sets a text based loosely on Luke 17.5. Gibbons combines homophony with light imitation to create an anthem of great intensity yet personal conviction. Long attributed to Gibbons, some scholars dispute debate whether the anthem was more likely composed by the contemporary Henry Loosemore (c.1600-1670).

Text:

*O Lord, increase my faith, strengthen me and confirm me in thy true faith, endue me with wisdom, charity, chastity and patience, in all my adversity.
Sweet Jesus, say Amen.*
